THE ART OF STORYTELLING

Story Grammar is a unique, innovative programme, promoting a love of story, ownership of story language and a profound understanding of story structure. It empowers teachers, parents and Early Years professionals by providing clear guidance in the use of a range of powerful external mediators, visual reminders and visual models to “make thinking visible”. These straightforward, enjoyable and effective strategies allow children to:

- Develop focussed attention
- Listen attentively and join in
- Respond to stories and share responses with others
- Develop thinking skills and creativity
- Analyse a story and understand its elements
- Identify a storyline
- Understand the relationships between characters
- Think about cause and effect
- Distinguish between essentials and details
- Develop deliberate memory
- Sequence the events of a story
- Create and use a plan of a story
- Remember and reproduce story language
- Retell the whole story independently
- Develop self-regulation
- Perform the story with a group
- Become confident and proficient speakers
- Meet crucial early learning goals in communication, language and literacy

In the package you will also find the storybook Goldilocks and the Three Bears and a CD-ROM. The CD-ROM has all the teacher and student resources you will need for the activities in the book.

For younger children the biggest difficulty is holding the structure of the story in mind. A visual model is a plan for retelling a story. When a child knows the structure of a story he/she is empowered to become very active in retelling it. The aim is for teacher to support the children in recreating teacher generated visual models at first and then, gradually, to enable them to create their own visual models and their own stories.
